‘Twas a week before Christmas and snowing, as is the case
But pre-Christmas snow brings a touch of magic to the place.

The days seem so quick to come and too quick to go

The winter will end and it’ll be Spring before you know.

Despite the hustle and bustle and shopping grind

It is the season of warm memories that come to mind,

Of Christmases near and long past

Enduring and joyful thoughts and feelings that ever last.

Of the people long gone but still in our hearts

That even now are important yule time parts.

Where trimming the boughs and decking the halls

Mounting the stars and hanging the balls

Making God’s eternally planned kingdom present and clearer

And renders our dear loved ones so much nearer.

The schedules are ready, the lists have been checked twice

The choirs’ repertoire is festive and concise.

There are still things to do, the last-minute chores on the list

If they don’t get done, they will never be missed.

Though Christmas is way beyond just the nativity scene

Christ long ago, Christ yet to come, we live here in between.

The Church looks at time in a funny way

That which is past and future, is present here today,

The mystery of it all means Christ is being born

The gift of the Incarnation our humanity to adorn

With the invitation for all to share what’s divine

And feast at the kingdom banquet through bread and wine.

The mystery of God’s love, the divine revelation

Is Christ present in every culture, peoples, and nation.

Welcome this Season, the gift of light from above

As God pours out on us God’s eternal love.

So, wishing you merriment, peace and great joy

From the staff, leadership, deacons and Fr. Roy

Merry Christmas.
